

XINYU HU

(+86)13788980347 ◇ xinyuhu21@m.fudan.edu.cn

EDUCATION

Fudan University

M.A. in International Politics, GPA: 3.75/4.00 (Top 5%)

September 2021 - June 2024(expected)

B.A. in International Relations, GPA: 3.70/4.00 (Top 10%)

September 2017- June 2021

George Washington University

August 2019 - December 2019

Non-degree exchange program, GPA:3.78/4.00

RESEARCH INTERESTS

International institutions' interactions

International Institutions' involvement in sanctions and major powers' strategic competitions

PUBLICATIONS

- Zhu, Jiejing and Xinyu Hu, "The Effectiveness of Economic Sanctions from an Economic Cost Perspective." 2023. Quarterly Journal of International Politics (Chinese SSCI) 8(3):1-28.
 - Examined differences in U.S. sanctions design against Iran, focusing on the weaponization of Iran's energy networks and sanction goal-setting
 - Emphasized that senders should set reasonable and limited sanction goals based on economic-pain-to-political-gain framework
 - Collected and managed qualitative data on U.S. sanction against Iran, written paper
- Zhu, Jiejing and Xinyu Hu, "Back to the Iron Cage? Institutional Isomorphism of the AIIB." 2021. International Organisations Research Journal 16(4): 7-29.
 - Examined why has the AIIB, a new multilateral development bank (MDB) initiated by an emerging economy, has undergone institutional isomorphism
 - Used the socialization theory to argue that institutional environment in which the AIIB is operating has a strong influence on AIIB's rule-making
 - Collected and managed data on AIIB's programs, written paper
- Zhu, Jiejing and Xinyu Hu, "The Institutional Deference of Emerging Powers: a Rational Choice Perspective." Submitted.
 - Explained why do the levels of institutional deference differ among China-established international institutions using rational choice institutionalism
 - Argued network effects of a policy area and China's integration levels within pre-existing institutions influenced the level of institutional deference
 - Designed research, and managed qualitative data on CMIM, APSCO and mCBDC Bridge, Written paper

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

- Issue Salience and Credible Commitment: U.S.-EU Cooperation on Sanctions 2022-present
 - Examined the conditions when the European Union choose to cooperate with the United States on sanctions using logistic regression and qualitative analysis

- Argued issue salience of sanction events and the U.S. commitment credibility influenced EU decision making
- Introduction to International Institutions for Prof. Jiejing Zhu 2023 fall-present
 - Written and edited chapters for Professor Zhu’s upcoming textbook
- Social Networks and Health Research Among Shanghai’s Elderly for Prof. Feng Tian 2021 Spring
 - Examined how do the elderly’s social networks influence their mental health
 - led a team, conducted questionnaire and behavior tracking surveys, facilitated focus group discussions

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

- International Organizations for Prof. Jiejing Zhu (40 students) 2023 Fall
 - Recorded and organized Lecture transcript
- Frontier Lectures on International Organizations (200 students per year) 2021&2022 Fall
 - For Prof. Jiejing Zhu and Prof. Jianzhi Zhao
 - Contacted guest speakers
 - Recorded and organized Lecture transcript, written 13 press releases
- Global Governance (in English) for Prof. Jiejing Zhu (20 students) 2021 Spring
 - Coordinated tripartite workshops for professors and students from Fudan, Keio, Yonsei Universities

HONORS AND AWARDS

| | |
|--|----------------|
| Graduate Student Fellowship, Fudan University (3 times) | 2021-24 |
| Chinese National Scholarship | 2022 |
| Academic Merit Scholarship, Fudan University | 2022 |
| Undergraduate Student Fellowship, Fudan University (4 times) | 2017-21 |

CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

- "China’s strategies to new international institutions: an institutional deference perspective." Academic Community of Politics and International Relations, Tsinghua University, July 2023
- "The Effectiveness of Economic Sanctions from an Economic Cost Perspective." Graduate Student Seminar at 118th Anniversary, Fudan University, June 2023

SKILLS

- Programming: R, Stata, L^AT_EX, Gephi,
- Language: Mandarin (native), English (fluent)